BikeMaster ChargeMaster

Battery chargers have come a long way. The triple-mode, seven-stage BikeMaster ChargeMaster 365TD ($90), for example, analyzes the condition of any 12-volt battery and its connection polarity, while also recovering mildly and/or heavily discharged batteries, even in freezing conditions. Plus, it can be connected for months or even years at a stretch. A backlit LCD shows the real-time charging rate, including voltage and amperage. A wall bracket and extra-long cables are supplied.

G-Floor Garage Flooring

Oil-stained scraps of shag carpet left over from the Ford administration have no place in your garage. G-Floor's poly-vinyl pads will transform the appearance and feel of any garage floor in less than an hour. Simply sweep the bare floor, roll out the padding and, if necessary, use a utility knife to trim around doorways and other obstacles—no messy adhesives required. The pads come in three thicknesses, a variety of lengths and widths, four patterns, seven colors and are guaranteed against defects for five years. Prices start at $120. If you don't want to outfit your entire garage, opt instead for the 10- x 5-foot Motorcycle & ATV Mat. It's available in two thicknesses: Standard Grade ($100) and kickstand-tough MM Grade ($150). ☐
